

Introduction

This is the introduction section with some content about the topic.
It contains useful information that should be extracted.

Methods

This section describes the methods used in the study.

Step one: prepare materials. Step two: execute procedure.